

8 FIRE FIGHTERS OVERCOME BY GAS AT MORNING BLAZE

Flames Melt Pipe and Men Are
Periled in West 20th
Street Fire.

Eight firemen, including "Soldier" Kearns, formerly a well known heavyweight pugilist; Battalion Chief Edwin A. Quinn and Capt. Lawrence Fisher, were overcome by gas early this morning while fighting a fire in the cellar of a four-story building at No. 48 West 20th Street.

The cellar and the first floor are occupied by the St. Regis Buffet Lunch, which was open at the time. The fire started in the cellar and had a good start when the firemen arrived. Battalion Chief Quinn and Capt. Fisher, in command of Engine Company No. 14, were the first to arrive. They all went with a line of hose into the cellar. The fire melted a gas pipe which fed the range in the lunchroom kitchen above and the cellar became filled with illuminating gas, which fortunately did not ignite.

The combination of gas and smoke nearly strangled the firemen of Engine Company No. 14, all of whom realized the peril in time to struggle to the street before they became unconscious. Those so seriously overcome as to require treatment by Dr. Tompkins of New York Hospital were, in addition to two officers, Fireman Charles Kerrigan, John Feeley, Philip Alexander, William Diney and Daniel Cucurillo, all of Engine Company No. 14.

The men of Hook and Ladder Truck No. 12 then entered the cellar, but were ordered out by Acting Chief "Smoky Joe" Martin as soon as he learned of the gas peril. When they reached the street they discovered that Kearns was missing. Two of the men went back and found him lying unconscious on the cellar floor. They dragged him out and he was soon revived.

The fire was finally extinguished with a loss estimated at something more than $2,000. The cause of the fire was not discovered.

WYOMING PRIMARIES HAVE LITTLE INTEREST

Only One Candidate for Senator in Each Party.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 22.—Wyoming voters went to the polls today to decide contest for nominations for Governor and for Wyoming's one member of the National House of Representatives.

Although a United States Senator is to be elected in November, the contest has created little interest in the primary campaign, because there is only one candidate each in the Republican and Democratic Parties. They are Senator Kendrick, Democrat, incumbent, and Frank W. Mondell, present Republican leader in the House.
